

Electrolytic Refining of Copper

Written by pimpitcha

Thursday, 09 July 2015 15:01 - Last Updated Thursday, 09 July 2015 15:03

{youtube}Wodyxtv-ngQ{/youtube}

In this video explains Electrolytic refining is a process of obtaining pure metal by the process of electrolysis.

In this method an electric current is passed through a solution called electrolyte that contains dissolved metals. This causes the dissolved metal to deposit onto the negatively charged cathode.

□□□□ : <http://www.classontheweb.com>

□□□□ : <https://youtu.be/Wodyxtv-ngQ>

□□□□□□□□ : Classontheweb